Faculty

Andy Sudbrock Ecologist, horticulturist and the owner of Nashville Natives, LLC.

Mr. Sudbrock's specialties include ecological restoration and mitigation with an emphasis on native plant communities and urban green spaces. He has successfully restored hundreds of acres of disturbed and damaged sites to sustainable ecological functioning. Mr. Sudbrock uses his in-depth knowledge of plants, soils, and ecological processes to design and grow low-maintenance green roof systems for clients throughout the Southeast.

Owen Slaughter Sustainable Development Coordinator for Southeast Green Roofs, LLC.

Mr. Slaughter has worked extensively in various capacities of green roof design, planning, implementation and project management. Primary clients are architectural, engineering, and landscape architectural firms as well as private building owners and managers. Mr. Slaughter's blending of his business skills, team building, and environmental sustainability strategies make him an effective and efficient green roof project leader.
